NURSING, M.S.N. - FAMILY NURSE PRACTITIONER

Millersville University offers a Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree Family/individual across the lifespan nurse practitioner (FNP).

All class sessions are offered during weekday evenings in three-hour blocks of time face to face and/or in a multi-modal or distance learning format. Clinical courses for the FNP student require a minimum of 750 total clinical hours to successfully complete the program.

Individuals completing the MSN with family/individual across the lifespan nurse practitioner option are prepared to function as family nurse practitioners in a variety of settings, including clinics and primary-care settings.

The program (MSN) is accredited by the Commission of Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE).
