

ENTERTAINMENT TECHNOLOGY, B.A.

The B.A. in entertainment technology combines training in live entertainment, art and design, computer and technology disciplines with courses that offer theory and practice in creative vision and technological insights into live event production, including lighting, scenic design, video and sound.

Persons considering the B.A. in entertainment technology program should consult with the department about options and requirements, as these programs undergo periodic revision.