CRIMINOLOGY, SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

The Department of Criminology, Sociology and Anthropology offers both a major and minor in sociology, a major and minor in anthropology, an option and a minor in archaeology, and an option and a minor in criminology. Many departmental faculty teach in the women's, gender and sexuality studies, African-American studies and Latina(o) studies programs.

Department Options and Minors

For sociology majors wishing to concentrate their studies in the areas of criminal behavior and criminal justice, the department has a criminology option within the sociology major. This program provides the student not only with a thorough knowledge of the American criminal justice system, but combines that knowledge with a broad understanding of American society and the principles of sociological method and theory.

The archaeology option within the anthropology major offers students a broad view of contemporary archaeology, with emphasis on contract archaeology, artifact analysis, current method and theory, field experience and independent research.

The department strongly encourages all of its majors to acquire practical experience as part of their degree program. This experience may take a variety of forms, depending on the student’s major or minor. Along with other activities, the department recommends participating in faculty-supervised research (ongoing research projects are conducted out of both the archaeology and social research labs), internships (see Internships in the Special Academic Opportunities section), studying abroad for a semester or summer term, or becoming a departmental tutor.

There is an honors program for academically motivated students. Further information may be obtained from the department or the departmental honors section of this catalog.

The department offers three minors: one in criminology, one in sociology and one in anthropology. These minors provide the student with insight into the principles governing human interaction and social organization. The criminology minor is the most specific of the three, focusing exclusively on the American criminal justice system. The sociology minor, in broad terms, examines American society, while the student minoring in anthropology can focus on either archaeology or cultural anthropology. All minors facilitate career advancement and intellectual breadth, regardless of the student’s major field of study.

For the most recent career information, students should consult the criminology, sociology and anthropology department website.

Anthropology of Religion (G3)
A cross-cultural examination of religious diversity. Primary emphasis will be placed on the five major world religions, although other religious traditions may also be considered. The course examines religion as a form of cultural practice, how people utilize religion to orient themselves to the social worlds in which they live, and the ways in which religion shapes peoples’ lives. Prereq: C- or higher in ANTH 121, restricted to Juniors and Seniors, Majors and Minors in the Sociology/Anthropology department, or instructor permission.

ANTH 327: 3 s.h.
Urban Anthropology (G3)
This course focuses on urbanism (the social and cultural dynamics of humans living within a large, dense city environment). Various topics to be examined in this course include the rise of urbanism, globalization, the dynamic nature of ethnic and class relations within urban communities, social and political activism among urban populations, migration, and settlement. 3 credits. Pre-requisite: ANTH 121
ANTH 336: 3 s.h.
Language & Communication (G3)
A Comparative Course that examines language as humans’ primary means of communication. Although virtually all animals communicate in some form, language is considered distinctly human as a result of cognitive, cultural, and physiologically distinct features of our species. The course examines language as both a system and performance. The systematic approach towards language study examines the structural components of language: phonemes, morphemes, syntax, grammar, etc., while a performance approach towards language study examines the art and style of communication (regional accents and dialects, slang, etc.). Anthropologists widely consider language to be the single most important aspect of human culture, as language is the means by which culture is transmitted to others. Other key topics to be examined in the course include language and identity, bilingualism, the critical age of language development, language shift vs. language maintenance, the development of pidgins and Creole languages (with a particular focus on Black English Vernacular, Spanglish, and the Ca/6 dialect of the Southwestern United States), the prescriptive vs. descriptive debate within linguistics, linguistic profile, language prejudice, and the rise of linguistic nationalism (as seen in cases such as the situation in Quebec among Franco-Canadian nationalists and the "English as the Official Language" debate in the United States. Pre-req: ANTH 121 and Junior class standing.

ANTH 344: 3 s.h.
Gender, Race, and Class (P)
The intersecting role of gender, race and class on human social life in the U.S. and other cultures. An interdisciplinary and comparative examination of the ways social categories define, limit and liberate human potential. Offered annually. Prereq: COMM 100, ENGL 110, junior status and at least two social science courses.

ANTH 344H: 3 s.h.
Hnrs:Gender, Race, and Class (P)
Hnrs:Gender, Race, and Class

POLICIES FOR ADMISSION TO THE ANTHROPOLOGY MAJOR

1. New students (freshmen and transfers) must be admitted to the anthropology major by the Office of Admissions upon admission to the university.
2. Admission into the Anthropology major from other departments is upon approval of the chairperson of the criminology, sociology, and anthropology department.
3. Non-degree and continuing education students must be admitted to the anthropology major by the office of admissions.

POLICIES FOR RETENTION IN THE ANTHROPOLOGY MAJOR

1. University requirements for retention.
2. The Departmental Academic Review is a mandatory, non-graded activity designed primarily to enhance our departmental advising. Students cannot “fail” the review, and no student will be dismissed from the department based on a poor performance. The review will take place after the completion of 45 semester hours but no later than the semester following the completion of 60 semester hours. For students transferring into the major with more than 45 semester hours, the review will normally take place during the semester following their admission into the department. The review consists of a half-hour interview with the student, the student’s adviser, and the department chairperson. The student is required to submit and essay and resume to the interview committee one week prior to the scheduled conference. If the student fails to participate in the review, they will be placed on probation-in-the-major for one semester, during which time they will be given a final opportunity to complete the review process. Failure to complete the review during the probationary period may result in the student being removed from the major. Students may appeal their dismissals to the department through either their adviser or the department chairperson.
POLICIES FOR ADMISSION TO THE SOCIOLOGY MAJOR
1. New freshmen students must have the required SAT I scores or class rank as determined by the University administration.
2. Internal transfer students must:
   - complete SOCY 101 (or an equivalent course) with a C or better,
   - complete MATH 130 (or an equivalent course) with a C- or better,
   - obtain a minimum CQPA of 2.0 and a QPA of at least 2.0 in courses required for the major,
   - complete the Department Academic & Professional Review,
   - complete 15 semester hours at Millersville University.
External transfer students must:
   - complete SOCY 101 (or equivalent course) with a C or better,
   - obtain a minimum CQPA of 2.0 and a QPA of at least 2.0 in courses required for the major,
   - complete the Department Academic & Professional Planning Review.
3. Students who meet the above criteria may apply for admission to the Sociology major and will be admitted if space is available.

POLICIES FOR RETENTION IN THE SOCIOLOGY MAJOR
1. University requirements for retention.
2. Majors must maintain a minimum GPA of 2.0 overall and in the major. If either GPA falls below 2.0, the student has one semester to reestablish a 2.0, after which time the student will be dismissed from the major if either GPA remains below 2.0. A student who has been dismissed may petition the department to be readmitted after she/he has they have satisfied the minimum retention requirements. Students will be readmitted on a space-available basis.
3. A student must earn a minimum grade of C in SOCY 101 Introduction to Sociology; a minimum grade of C- in MATH 130 Elements of Statistics I; a minimum grade of C in SOCY 230 Criminology; and a minimum grade of C- in SOCY 302 Social Statistics before taking courses for which these are prerequisites. A student who does not earn the necessary grade in these prerequisite courses by the second attempt will be dismissed from the sociology or sociology major. In addition, a minimum grade of C in SOCY 230: Criminology must be earned prior to taking SOCY 331 or 332. A student who does not earn the necessary grade in SOCY 230 by the second attempt will be dismissed from the Criminology option. Students will be readmitted on a space available basis upon successful completion of the course.
4. The Departmental Academic & Professional Planning Review is a mandatory, non-graded activity designed primarily to enhance our departmental advising. Students cannot "fail" the review, and no student will be dismissed from the department based on a poor performance. The review will take place after the completion of 45 semester hours but no later than the semester following the completion of 60 semester hours. It is the student's responsibility to contact their advisor to schedule the Academic Review after the completion of 45 semester hours. The review consists of a half-hour interview with the student's advisor and possibly the department chair. The student is required to submit an essay on their career goals and a resume to the advisor one week prior to the scheduled conference. If the student fails to participate in the review, they will be placed on probation-in-the-major for one semester, during which time they will be given a final opportunity to complete the Academic Review. Failure to complete the review during the probationary period will result in the student being dismissed from the major. The Department Academic & Professional Planning Review is a graduation requirement.
