PSYCHOLOGY MINOR

A minor in psychology provides students with an introduction to the foundational principles of human behavior and research methods in psychology. Students who are interested in the minor should know that some courses require successful completion of prerequisites (i.e., PSYC and MATH courses) and to consult with their advisor before applying to the minor.