

COMPUTER AIDED DRAFTING/ DESIGN MINOR

Students taking the Computer-Aided Drafting minor complete 18 credits of technical courses. One of these is a foundational course in drafting and design and then students choose five technical courses from topics like production materials and processes, computer-aided engineering drawing, product design, architectural drawing, and several others.