

HELIOPHYSICS AND SPACE WEATHER MINOR

Heliophysics and Space Weather challenges students to consider the principles and problems associated with the solar system through the lenses of multiple disciplines. As the study of the sun and its effects on the Earth requires a broad understanding of physics and meteorology, the minor program at Millersville University explores this interdisciplinary field through both physics and earth science.