Millersville University's Geospatial Applications concentration offers a comprehensive program of study that emphasizes the acquisition of skills in geographic information systems (GIS), map use and interpretation, cartography and basic analytical skills. The minor is housed in the Department of Geography.