

PHYSICS MINOR

A minor in physics is a great option for students in any STEM field that is interested a deeper understanding of the physical principles that form the basis of chemistry, biology, astronomy, and earth sciences. It is also a good choice for students interested in pursuing advanced degrees in any of those fields.